

Anyone who knows me is aware how much I loved my dad... I often call him Daddy Dearest, as he was the dearest person to me and loved me unconditionally. After his passing in 2009, I was extremely depressed and it still hurts very much, knowing that he is not here. I have held on and remained strong for his grandchildren and myself... His legacy lives on and I thank the Management committee and members of the Foundation in London UK for their perseverance in keeping his memory alive. On behalf of all the family we thank you for this legacy website celebrating a decade of your work.
